LA GRANGE COLLEGE

LA GRANGE, GEORGIA

DEDIC

To THE CURTAIN RAISERS, the dramatic club of L. C., because in the performances you have provided for us you have been an elevating influence to the college as a whole, we, the students of LaGrange College, dedicate this volume of the QUADRANGLE.

ATION

TO THE CURTAIN RAISERS

(Upon their presentation of "Little Women")

Sweet as breath of incense flung
From out the groves of far Cathay,
Or sound of old songs faintly sung,
Is this—the charm of yesterday.
A day of garden-paths with phlox,
With pinks and lilacs blooming fair;
A day of maids in ruffled frocks,
With ribands bound about their hair.
You brought it back! For just a space
We lived with Meg, and madcap Jo;
With Beth's sweet spirit, Amy's grace;
Immortal girls of long ago!
Their joys and sorrows, smiles and tears,
Yours was the power to portray;
You raised the curtain of the years
Upon the charm of yesterday.

—CARRIE FALL BENSON

FOREWORD

"Little Women" have been the same throughout the years. On the L. C. Campus today we may see in the Seniors the gracious dignity of Meg; in the Juniors the sturdy dependability of Jo; in the Sophomores the gentle earnestness of Beth; and in the Freshmen the dauntless pride of Amy.

It is our sincere hope that you may find a blending of all these traits in this, the 1936
QUADRANGLE.

ALMA MATER

Hail to thee, our Alma Mater;
Guardian of our days;
For thy spirit, never failing
We would sing thy praise.
High aloft we hold thy banner,
Ever loyal, true;
Hail to thee, our Alma Mater,
Hail to thee, LaGrange.

In thy mighty grove of learning,
Wisdom's path we've sought;
High upon thy lofty hilltop
Visions have been wrought.
From our hearts we sing the chorus,
Let the sound prolong!
Hail to thee, our Alma Mater,
Hail to thee, LaGrange.

L. C. OF OTHER DAYS

PHILOGENIA WARE, Elethia McLendon, Sophronia Campbell, and Amarantha Cameron entered LaGrange Female Academy about 1840. They arrived in carriages and in barouches with many more bandboxes and umbrellas than books. They were accompanied by their black "mammies," but this new business of girls getting an education did not encourage so many "curling tresses" and so much "tubbing and buttoning," so the mammies were sent home.

A serious period ensued in which one-half of each day was devoted to mathematics, it being generally believed in that day that a woman could not learn such an abstract subject. Much time was given to writing of essays on such serious subjects as "Mother, Home and Heaven," "What Is Life but Fleeting," "All a Mist," "Man is Born to Mourn." The college authorities declared that a knowledge of French was indispensable "as the diplomas are printed in French." In addition to all this getting of knowledge, these young misses were admonished to "mind your manners and walk sedately."

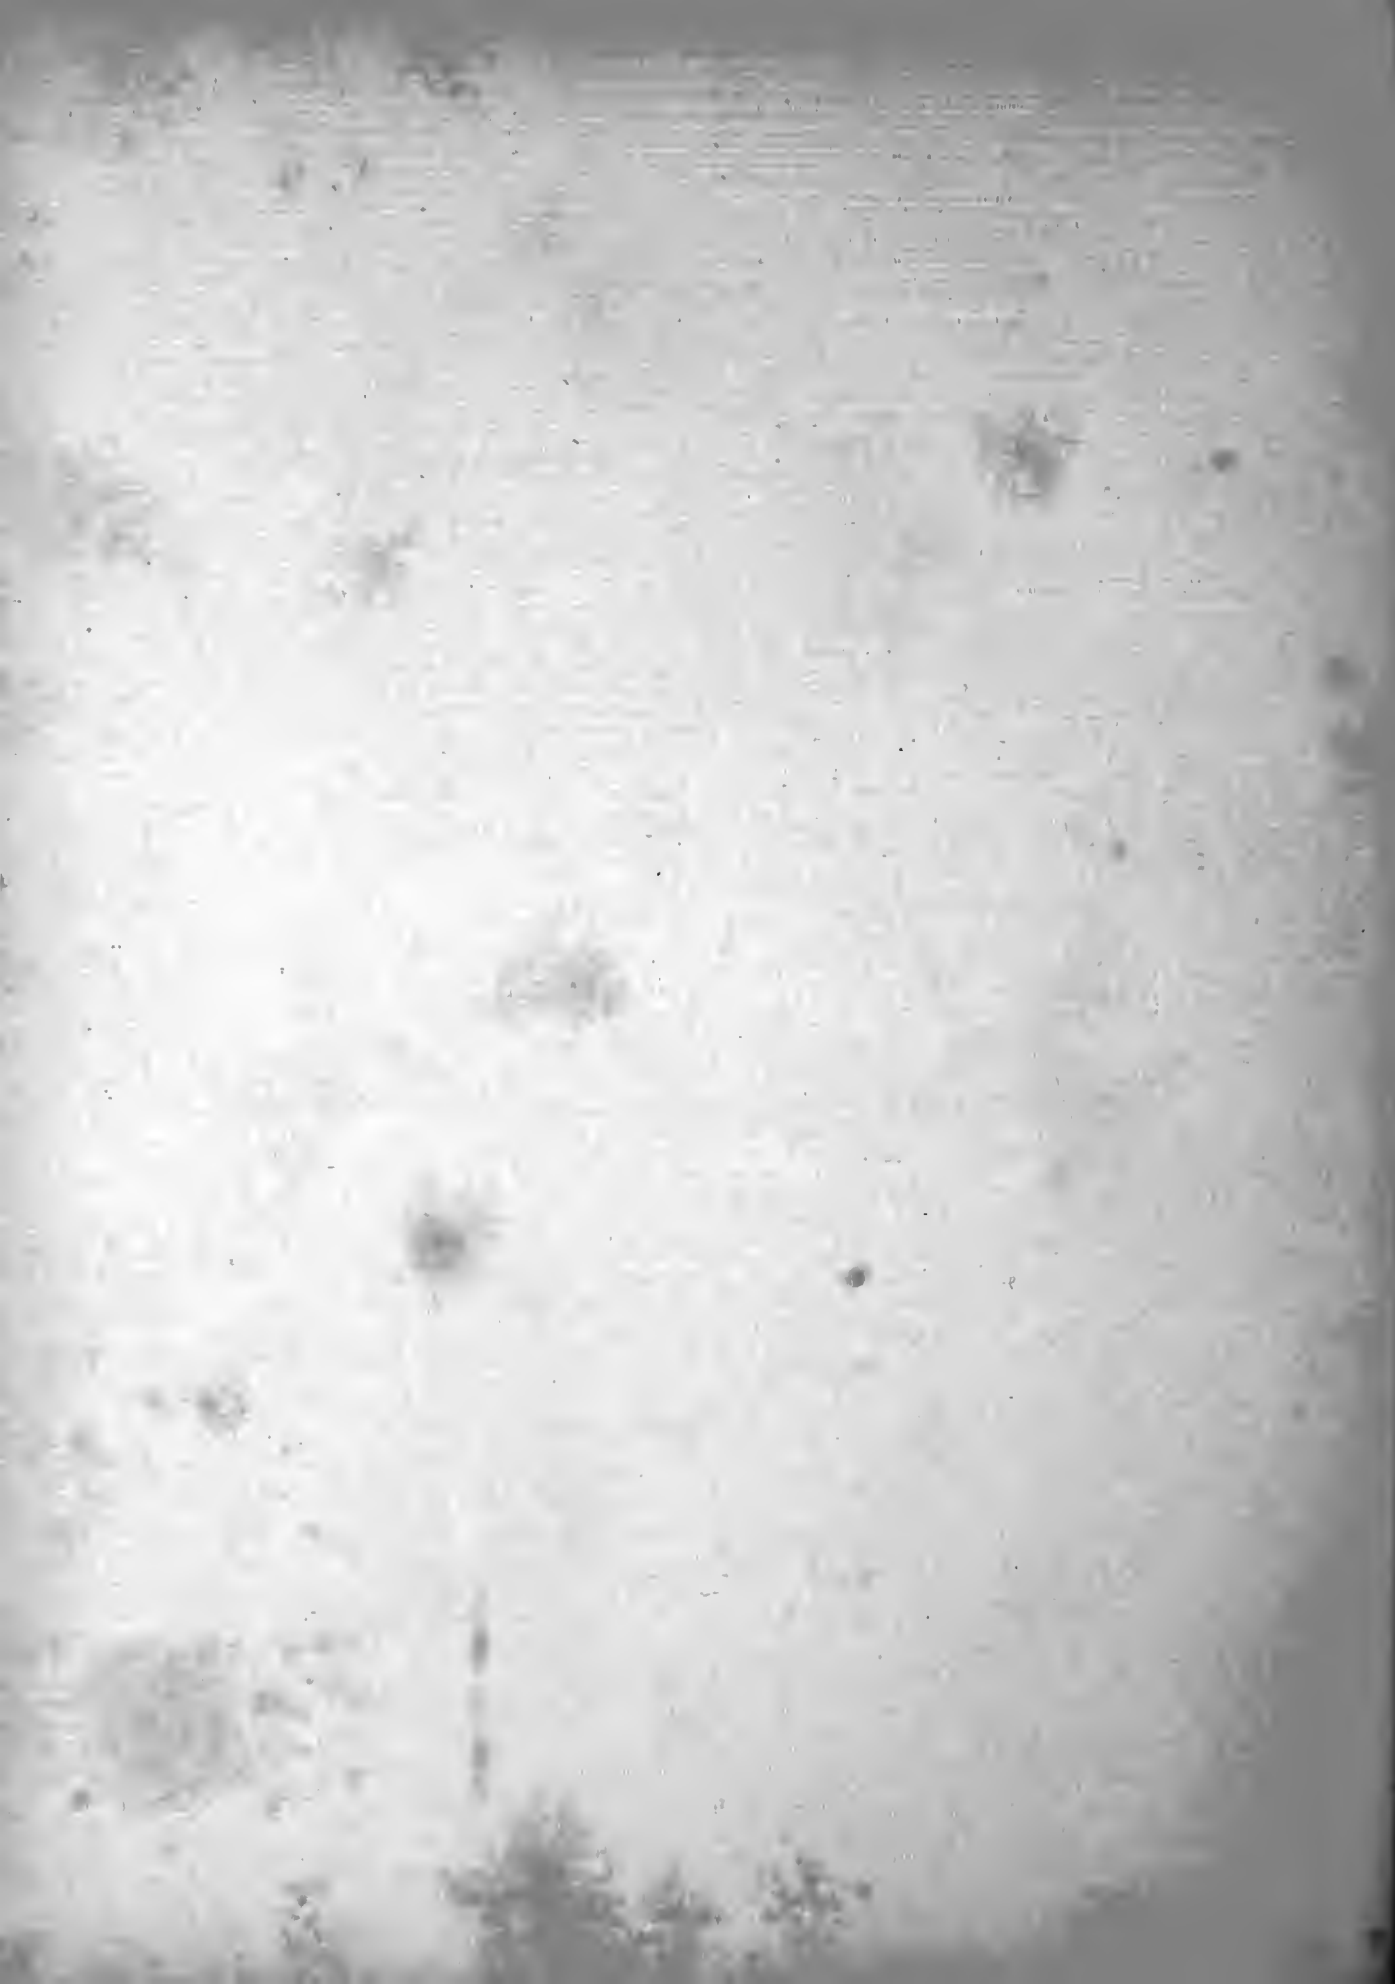

The rules and regulations were many. The girls "must not leave their shawls" lying about on pianos or chairs. These shawls were their "house wraps" and were worn in their rooms and on the campus. Capes were used for "dress-up" occasions. The young ladies were to have no association with men, except to direct them to the president's office or to answer some impersonal inquiry. The last night of commencement, however, all rules were cancelled, and the young ladies came out of their cloister to take part in the farewell levee, a grand social function. During the early seventies bananas were a rarity. The young men saved their pennies to buy their young ladies a banana. At the levee, it was no uncommon sight to see a refined young lady in laces and satins eating a banana, as she promenaded with her young man.

LaGrange College is rich in traditions and old legends. But not all the interesting things are confined to the past. Building on a rich heritage, the old college is doing even greater work today and may look forward to a successful future.

—MARTHA JANE TRAYLOR.

T O L . C .

I'm glad they built you on a hill,
Those men who planned your site;
They must have known that we would need
To see the stars at night.
They must have known that we would need
The nearness of the skies,
That we would like to see the shades
Creep up as each day dies.

I'm glad they made your windows wide
So we can sit in them
And watch the light that, shining through,
Makes each raindrop a gem.
I'm glad I know your halls and rooms
All mem'ry filled, for they
Mean more to me because of every
Distant yesterday.

'THE CHEST OF MEMORIES'

Within a small, old-fashioned chest
Many treasured keepsakes rest,
Tokens and relics of yesterday
Carefully and fondly tucked away:
A fluffy ball dress of rose hue,
A quaint little bonnet with ribbons too,
A wisp of a handkerchief trimmed with lace,
A daguerreotype of a handsome face,
Programs and souvenirs of many balls,
Faded flowers saved from lover's calls,
Packets of yellowed letters tied with blue
That tell of love that was so true,
A dainty frilled old valentine
Tenderly whispers, "I am thine";
All those relics have a story to tell
Of these far off days when she was a belle;
A misty veil of snowy white
That she wore on her wedding night,
A slender golden wedding band
That graced her tiny waxen hand,
A locket engraved with "I love you"
Whispers the story old but ever new.
These are treasures of many a bygone day;
Wrapped in their memories let them stay;
That's where they belong to be.
They aren't to be disturbed by you and me.

MEM'RY CALLS ME

Mem'ry calls me oft in the twilight.

She beckons with shadowy hand;
And always I find I must follow
The road to her mystical land.

Mem'ry calls; I see her there standing

In the gloaming's silvery gray,
Her gown like the shadows and starlight,
Her smile like the sunshine of day.

Mem'ry calls with a voice like music

That softly comes from afar;
She waits for me in her kingdom
Inside its gates, left ajar.

Mem'ry calls me through deepening shadows,

To the call I'll ever be true,
For before I depart from her country
She always leads me to you.

The DUNSON MILLS

LaGRANGE, GEORGIA

MANY YEARS AGO LaGrange was named by one of her first citizens "The City of Elms and Roses;" since that time she has also become the City of Cotton Mills; and her residents may justly feel a pride in either name.

THE DUNSON MILLS lies on the eastern edge of the city, between the Atlanta and West Point Railroad and the Atlanta Highway, Route 14. Its buildings and grounds are among the most attractive in the South today. The main mill building and offices are surrounded by a wide expanse of velvety lawns, green the year round, and appropriately planted with flowering and evergreen shrubs. The mill building is of red brick with white trim, and has a base planting of shrubbery. The tenement village has some three hundred houses of three and four room types, at all times kept freshly painted white, with green trim. Every home is provided with electric lights and running water and has ample room surrounding it for flower and vegetable gardens, chickens, and a cow if desired. The City of LaGrange rents from the Company its splendid two-story brick school building and operates there a grammar school. The Company operates at its own expense a well-equipped kindergarten for the small children, and a domestic science school for the girls of the fifth and sixth grades.

A full-time graduate nurse is regularly employed by the Company for the welfare of its employees and their families, and group life insurance at a very low rate is provided for all who wish it.

The Company a few years ago built two modern brick churches, one of Old English and one of Colonial design, and besides furnishing light, heat and janitor service for the congregations using them, also contributes substantially to the support of their resident pastors.
